

How to install templates

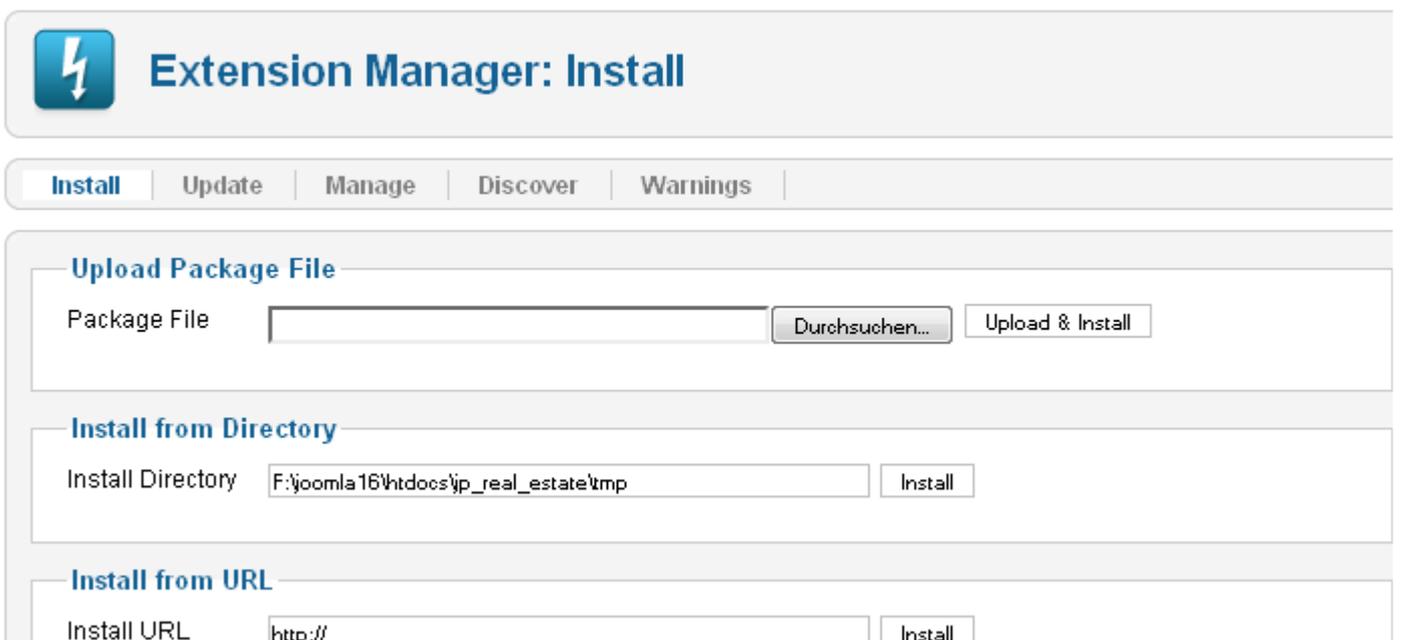

- Install via Admin Panel (packed template file)
- Log into the back-end of your site (www.your-site.com/administrator/)
- Click on: Extensions -> Install/Uninstall

From here you can install your Templates, Plugins, Modules, Components and Languages.

You have three options:

- Upload Package File - (select a package from your PC, upload and install it)
- Install from Directory - (enter the path where the package is located on your server)
- Install from URL - (enter the URL to the package) Here, we choose the first method: Upload Package File Select the package from your PC and click the button "Upload File & Install"

If the package contains no errors you are done and get a success message like the one below.

Extension Manager: Install

Install | Update | Manage | Discover | Warnings

i Installing template was successful.

JP Ecology

NOTE: It is not free or public. This template comes with a single license from Joomlaplates.com.
JP -Ecology is a modern, mutli color Joomla template. It is easy to customize and can be used for many clean designs. It module positions. We included the popular Slideshow and an amazing Article Slideshow in the middle of the page where

How to switch templates

To change the default Template for the Site (Front-end) or Administrator (Back-end), follow these steps:

1. Log in to the Administrator (Back-end). If you are not sure how to do this see: To log in to the Administrator (Back-end)
2. Click on: Extensions -> Template Manager

Administration

Site | Users | Menus | Content | Components | Extensions | Help |  None Logged-in frontend  1 Log

Extension Manager: Insta

Install | Update | Manage | Discover | W

-  Extension Manager
-  Module Manager
-  Plug-in Manager
-  Template Manager
-  Language Manager

i Installing template was successful.

JP Ecology

You will now see the Template Manager screen.

From here you manage your templates for Front-end and Back-end. The default view shows your installed Front-end templates. The default template for the Front-end is marked with a star; in the image below it is rhuk_milkyway.

To change the default template to your own one:

1. Click the Template on the left side and select it
2. Click "Make Default" on the toolbar
3. The star changes from bee to your own Template and you are done.

The screenshot shows the Joomla! Template Manager interface. At the top, there is a header with the title "Template Manager: Styles" and a toolbar with buttons for "Make Default", "Edit", "Duplicate", and "Delete". Below the header, there are tabs for "Styles" and "Templates". A search bar is present with "Filter:", "Search", and "Clear" buttons. A table lists the installed templates with columns for "Style", "Location", "Template", and "Default". The "Default" column contains star icons. A red circle with the number "2" points to the "Make Default" button. A red circle with the number "1" points to the checkbox for the "jp_ecology - Default" template. A red circle with the number "3" points to the star icon in the "Default" column for the "jp_ecology - Default" template.

	Style	Location	Template	Default
<input type="checkbox"/>	Atomic - Default	Site	atomic	☆
<input type="checkbox"/>	Beez5 - Default-Fruit Shop	Site	beez5	☆
<input type="checkbox"/>	Beez2 - Default	Site	beez_20	☆
<input type="checkbox"/>	Bluestork - Default	Administrator	bluestork	☆
<input type="checkbox"/>	Hathor - Default	Administrator	hathor	☆
<input type="checkbox"/>	Ecology - Default	Site	jp_ecology	☆
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	jp_real_estate - Default	Site	jp_real_estate	☆

Assign more than one template for the Front-end

Joomla! gives you the option of switching between two or more templates on the Front-end. This is done with "Menu Assignment", so you can set different templates for each menu or only a menu item.

Click on: Extensions -> Template Manager

You see your installed templates, now choose a template which is not set as your default one. Click on the template name or hit the radio button to the left of the template name, and click "Edit" on the toolbar. You now see the page "Template: [Edit]", click the radio button "Select from List" in the "Menu Assignment" block and choose the menu items on which the template will be shown. Click "Save" on the toolbar and you're done.